Whether you think you might be interested in a musical instrument and aren't ready to make that commitment yet, or you would like to complement your private music lessons with group experiences, this class is for you!

This is a great opportunity for those who wish to find out if music is for them as well as for current students to enjoy new musical experiences.

In this class we will experiment with the various elements of music and how they work together. This wholistic approach includes:

- LISTENING to different composers & genres
- RHYTHM activities
- NOTATION decoding
- KEYBOARD geography
- FAMILIAR MELODIES by ear
- SOLFEGE ("Do, re, mi")
- THEORY exploration
- ENSEMBLE playing
- IMPROVISATION

Students currently studying an instrument will be given an opportunity to play for the group as well as playing together. Bring your instrument and music!

You can register for individual weeks, or for the six-week session, either by registering on-line at <https://juliesmusicandlanguagestudio.musicteachershelper.com/registration> or by filling out the registration form attached.
